

Movement of Agriculture Prices vis-a-vis Industrial Prices

5.45 Of late, there has been a stronger upward movement of agricultural commodity prices relative to the prices of the manufactured products, (Table 5.13). This trend is more pronounced after protection to industry was to a large extent reduced or withdrawn in 1991-92. Besides this positive development, agriculture has also benefitted from higher farm support prices during the last few years.