

PART-II

NON-PLAN EXPENDITURE 2004-2005

Non-Plan expenditure is a generic term, which is used to cover all expenditure of Government not included in the Plan. It may either be revenue expenditure or capital expenditure. Part of the expenditure is obligatory in nature e.g. interest payments, pensionary charges and statutory transfers to State and Union Territory Governments. A part of the expenditure is an essential obligation of the State, e.g. Defence and internal security. Then, there are special responsibilities of the Centre like external affairs, co-operation with other countries and currency and mint.

Details of Non-plan expenditure by broad categories are given in Statement No.4.

Important items of non-plan expenditure included in the Budget for 2004-2005 are indicated in the following paragraphs. In general, non-plan Capital outlays have been put together in Statement No.8.

1. INTEREST PAYMENTS (Rs.129499.86 crore)

These relate to interest on Public Debt, both internal and external and other interest bearing liabilities of the Government. The internal debt mainly comprises market loans and other medium and long term loans; treasury bills and rupee securities issued to international institutions and special securities issued to National Small Savings Fund. Other interest bearing liabilities include Insurance and Pension funds, deposits of non-Government provident funds, reserve funds of commercial departments, etc. From 2004-05, the provision includes interest payment on borrowings under the Market Stabilization Scheme.

3.1 MAJOR SUBSIDIES (Rs.42021.15 crore)

3.1.1 Food subsidy (Rs.25800.00 crore) :- Food Corporation of India purchases foodgrains for the central pool at procurement prices fixed by Government from time to time. These grains are issued to States for Targeted Public Distribution System (TPDS) to serve Below Poverty Line (BPL) and Above Poverty Line (APL) families at rates fixed by Government. The difference between the economic cost and the central issue price is reimbursed to the Corporation as Food Subsidy. Some States like Uttar Pradesh, Uttaranchal, Madhya Pradesh, Chattisgarh and West Bengal also procure wheat and/or rice under Decentralized Procurement Scheme and utilize it for TPDS. The difference between the economic cost of the foodgrains fixed for the State and the issue price is passed on to the States as subsidy. In case of schemes where food grains are issued at prices below economic cost, subsidy arising out of it, is included in food subsidy.

The Corporation also carries buffer stock on behalf of Government and is reimbursed the cost of carrying this stock, which includes handling, storage, interest and administrative charges. The subsidy is initially paid to FCI on a provisional basis, after withholding certain amounts, which are released after proper verification of actual off-take.

3.1.2 Indigenous (urea) fertilisers (Rs.8143.15 crore) :-

A retention price scheme for indigenous fertilisers is in operation since 1977. This scheme was intended to make fertilisers available to farmers at reasonable prices and at the same time give producers of fertilisers a reasonable return on their investment.

The retention price scheme allows a 12% post-tax return on net worth. The difference between the retention price so fixed, less distribution margin and the statutorily controlled consumers' price, is allowed as subsidy. The quantum of subsidy depends on the retention price, the consumers' price and the level of production.

3.1.3 Imported (urea) fertilisers (Rs.473.00 crore) :-

As indigenous production is not adequate to meet the demand for fertilisers, imports are arranged to make up the shortfall. Mainly three varieties of fertilisers viz. Urea, Di-ammonium phosphate and Muriate of Potash are imported. As only Nitrogenous fertilisers are under price control, the estimates are based on the likely imports of urea during the year.

3.1.4 Sale of decontrolled fertilisers with concession to farmers (Rs.4046.00 crore) :-

Interest subsidy is also given for financing interest payment on loans from banks for implementation of VRS in Central Public Sector undertakings (Rs.105.91 crore).
